PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Defendant Harman International Industries, Inc. (“Harman”) responds to the Court’s January 9, 2023 Order to Show Cause (Dkt. No. 13) regarding the Court’s subject matter jurisdiction by explaining how the Court has two separate and independent bases for jurisdiction each of which is sufficient to confer jurisdiction:

- First, the Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) because there is complete diversity of citizenship and more than $75,000 in controversy. Plaintiff Annette Cody is a citizen of California. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 12, 14; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 4. Defendant Harman is a citizen of Delaware (where it is incorporated) and Connecticut (where it has its principal place of business). See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 13-14; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 5; Dkt. No 1-9. Cody seeks more than $75,000. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 15-19; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 19, 26-28; Dkt. No. 1-1 at 8:1-5 (Cody’s “Prayer for Relief”). Therefore, all of the requirements for subject matter jurisdiction based on diversity are satisfied.

- Second, separately and independently, the Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”) (28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)). Cody and Harman are citizens of different states. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 23-27; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 4-5. Harman also reasonably believes Cody is seeking to represent a class size of greater than 100. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 28-29; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 19. And, the amount in controversy exceeds $5 million. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 30-33; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 19, 26-28; Dkt. No. 1-1 at 8:1-5 (Cody’s “Prayer for Relief”).

Either basis for jurisdiction satisfies this Court’s jurisdictional requirement. See Chan Healthcare Grp., PS v. Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 844 F.3d 1133, 1137 (9th Cir. 2017) (recognizing “traditional diversity” jurisdiction “under § 1332(a)” and CAFA jurisdiction are distinct); Biag v. King George – J&J Worldwide Servs. LLC, 2020 WL 4201192, at *7 (S.D. Cal. July 22, 2020) (“Because CAFA ‘explicitly expands diversity jurisdiction rather than diminishes its scope,’ failure to meet CAFA requirements does not preclude the possibility of meeting traditional

1 diversity jurisdiction requirements under § 1332(a).”). Therefore, this case should
 2 not be remanded.

3 Moreover, it is clear from Complaints filed by Plaintiff’s counsel in other
 4 similar cases involving alleged violations under the California Invasion of Privacy
 5 Act (“CIPA”) and from discussions with Plaintiff’s counsel regarding this litigation
 6 that Plaintiff intends to pursue claims well in excess of CAFA’s class size and 7 amount in controversy requirements to the extent that there is any uncertainty about 8 whether those requirements are met. See Declaration of Eric Bakewell (“Bakewell
 9 Decl.”) ¶¶ 3-4; id. Exs. 1-13 (providing examples of other CIPA-related actions
 10 filed by Plaintiff’s counsel in which an amended complaint including allegations
 11 relating to CAFA was filed the action was removed to federal court).

12 The case is properly removed (and the Court possesses subject matter 13 jurisdiction) given the complete diversity and the presence of the CAFA
 14 jurisdictional requirements. And, the case should not be remanded as long as there 15 is at least either diversity or CAFA jurisdiction. As such, there is no basis for 16 remanding the case.¹

17 STATEMENT OF FACTS

18 Cody filed this action in Los Angeles Superior Court on November 27, 2023
 19 against Harman on behalf of herself and a putative class for violation of California 20 Penal Code Section 638.51. See Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 24-29; Dkt. No. 1 ¶ 1. The 21 Complaint alleges that Harman operates www.jbl.com (“JBL’s Website”) and 22 deploys technology on JBL’s Website that constitutes a “pen register” in violation
 23 of the CIPA (Cal. Pen. Code § 630, et seq.). See Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 15-17; Dkt. No. 1

 25
 26
 27 ¹ This case should not be remanded even if the Court finds there is no diversity
 28 jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) without a binding stipulation or a binding, under-oath declaration from Cody that she will not pursue claims in this litigation on behalf of a class of more than 100 individuals or seeking more than $5,000,000.

1 ¶ 4. Cody served Harman no earlier than December 1, 2023. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶ 2;
 2 Dkt. No. 1-2.

3 On December 28, 2023, Harman timely removed this action to this Court
 4 based on diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) and CAFA jurisdiction
 5 under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d). See generally Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 8-36. Harman explained
 6 that diversity jurisdiction exists because there is complete diversity of citizenship
 7 between parties (Cody is a citizen of California and Harman is a citizen of Delaware
 8 and Connecticut), and there is more than $75,000 in controversy. See Dkt. No. 1
 9 ¶¶ 8-19; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 4-5, 19, 26-28; Dkt. No. 1-1 at 8:1-5. Harman also 10 explained that CAFA jurisdiction exists because Harman reasonably believes the 11 Complaint pursues a class action with more than 100 individuals and more than $5
 12 million in controversy. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 20-36; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 19, 26-29; Dkt.
 13 No. 1-1 at 8:1-5.

14 Counsel for Cody has filed multiple actions in state court alleging various 15 violations under the CIPA – with many of these cases being removed to federal 16 court and are not remanded. See, e.g., Bakewell Decl. Exs. 1, 4, 8, 11. Notably,
 17 Cody’s counsel modus operandi is to file an amended complaint specifically 18 alleging CAFA allegations after a case is removed to federal court (which is 19 consistent with statements made by Cody’s counsel to Harman’s counsel in this 20 action). See id. Exs. 2-3, 5-7, 9-10, 12-13; see also id. ¶¶ 3-4.

21 On January 9, 2023, the Court issued an order to show cause regarding the 22 Court’s jurisdiction over this action under CAFA. See generally Dkt. No. 13. The 23 Court directed Harman to file a response to show cause as to “why this case should 24 not be remanded for lack of subject matter jurisdiction because Defendant has failed
 25 to show, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the amount in controversy
 26 requirement for CAFA jurisdiction has been met.” See id. at 3.

27 On January 10, 2024, counsel for the parties discussed matters relating to this 28 action. See Bakewell Decl. ¶ 4. Statements by Cody’s counsel during this

1 discussion made clear that Cody is seeking more than $5 million for the class and
 2 representing a class of more than 100 individuals. *See id.*²

3 ARGUMENT

4 This case should not be remanded. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction
 5 over this action pursuant to: (1) 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) given the complete diversity
 6 and satisfaction of the $75,000 amount in controversy requirement; or (2) 28 U.S.C.
 7 § 1332(d) (CAFA) given the satisfaction of CAFA's jurisdictional requirements.

8 Additionally, remand is not proper even if the Court focused only on CAFA
 9 jurisdiction (and ignored the indisputable and unchallenged diversity jurisdiction)
 10 and concludes that the CAFA allegations in Harman's Notice of Removal are 11 insufficient. It is clear and obvious that Plaintiff intends to pursue a class action that 12 unquestionably satisfies CAFA's requirements (and intends to file an Amended
 13 Complaint showing as much). At a minimum (and, again, ignoring diversity 14 jurisdiction), remand would not be proper unless Cody provides binding assurances 15 that she is not pursuing and will not pursue CAFA claims against Harman and/or 16 granting Harman leave to amend its Notice of Removal to fix any deficiencies.

17 I. THE COURT HAS JURISDICTION BASED ON EITHER DIVERSITY
 18 UNDER 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) OR CAFA UNDER 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)

19 Removal of this action is proper if the Court "would have original jurisdiction 20 over the action" given that federal courts "are courts of limited jurisdiction" and 21 "possess only that power authorized by Constitution and statute." Kokkonen v.
 22 Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 511 U.S. 375, 377 (1994); Allen v. Boeing Co., 784
 23 F.3d 625, 628 (9th Cir. 2015); see 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a). Grounds for subject matter
 24 jurisdiction include diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) and CAFA
 25 jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d). See, e.g., Behrazfar v. Unisys Corp., 687 F.

26
 27 ² Cody's counsel also indicated that Cody plans to file an Amended Complaint to 28 add additional allegations including allegations relating to CAFA. See Bakewell
 Decl. ¶ 3.

1 Supp. 2d 999, 1004 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (concluding the court has subject matter
 2 jurisdiction under CAFA and denying motion to remand); Martin v. Servicemaster
 3 Co., 2018 WL 11483059, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 28, 2018) (concluding court has 4 diversity jurisdiction).

5 Harman removed this case pursuant to diversity of citizenship and CAFA, and 6 the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action under either basis. See Dkt.
 7 No. 1 ¶¶ 5-36; see also Chan Healthcare Grp., PS, 844 F.3d at 1137 (recognizing 8 “traditional diversity” jurisdiction “under § 1332(a)” and CAFA jurisdiction are 9 separate grounds for federal court jurisdiction); Biag, 2020 WL 4201192, at *7 10 (noting whether CAFA jurisdictional requirements are met “does not preclude the 11 possibility of meeting traditional diversity jurisdiction requirements under 12 § 1332(a)”).

13 II. THE COURT HAS DIVERSITY JURISDICTION

14 The Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this case because diversity 15 jurisdiction exists. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) (providing district courts “shall have 16 original jurisdiction” over actions where the parties are diverse and the amount in 17 controversy exceeds $75,000); see also Dkt No. 1 ¶¶ 8-19 (explaining that the Court 18 has diversity jurisdiction over this action).

19 The requirements for diversity jurisdiction are met because Cody and Harman
 20 (the only parties to the action) are “citizens of different States,” and the amount in 21 controversy as pleaded by Cody exceeds $75,000. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) (stating 22 that the “district courts shall have original jurisdiction of all civil actions where the 23 matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and 24 costs, and is between . . . citizens of different States”); Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 8-19; Dkt.
 25 No. 1-1 at ¶¶ 4-5.

1 A. Complete Diversity Of Citizenship Exists Between The Parties

2 The complete diversity requirement for diversity jurisdiction is satisfied
 3 because Cody is domiciled in California while Harman is domiciled in Delaware
 4 and Connecticut. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 11-14; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 4-5.

5 Cody is domiciled in California given that she resides in (and is, presumably,
 6 a citizen of) California.³ See Adams v. W. Marine Prods., Inc., 958 F.3d 1216, 1221
 7 (9th Cir. 2020) (ruling a person's state of residence constitutes evidence of 8 domicile); Mondragon v. Cap. One Auto Fin., 736 F.3d 880, 886 (9th Cir. 2013)
 9 (ruling that a person's residence is prima facie evidence of a person's domicile);
 10 Dkt. No. 1 ¶ 12; Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶ 4.

11 Harman is a citizen of Delaware and Connecticut. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(c)(1) 12 (establishing that a corporation is a citizen of the states where it is incorporated and 13 has its principal place of business); Dkt. No. 1 ¶ 13; Dkt. No. 1-9 (Harman's
 14 California Secretary of State Statement of Information filed on November 15, 2023
 15 showing Harman is incorporated in Delaware and its principal place of business is 16 Stamford, Connecticut).

17 B. The Complaint Alleges An Amount In Controversy Over $75,000

18 The Complaint pleads an amount in controversy exceeding $75,000 as 19 explained in Harman's Notice of Removal. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 15-19; Dkt. No. 1-1 20 ¶¶ 19, 28.

21
 22
 23
 24

 25 ³ Cody has not claimed to be domiciled in another state since Harman removed this 26 case on December 28, 2023. See Bakewell Decl. ¶ 2. Therefore, the Court should 27 accept as true that Cody's place of domicile is in California. See NewGen, LLC v.
Safe Cig, LLC, 840 F.3d 606, 614 (9th Cir. 2016) ("[A]t the pleading stage, 28 allegations of jurisdictional fact need not be proven unless challenged."); see also Anderson v. Watts, 138 U.S. 694, 706 (1891) (noting that the "place where a person lives is taken to be his domicile until facts adduced establish the contrary").

1 Cody alleges $5,000 in statutory damages for each alleged violation of 2 California Penal Code Section 638.51 and alleges around 100 violations, bringing
 3 the alleged statutory damages to about $500,000. See Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 19, 28.

4 The other alleged damages and fees sought in the Complaint – including 5 punitive damages, attorneys’ fees, and “any and all other relief at law that may be 6 appropriate” – further establishes the amount in controversy is over $75,000. See
 7 Dkt. No. 1-1 at 8:1-5 (Cody’s “Prayer for Relief”); id. ¶¶ 26-28. These other 8 damages and fees are included in calculating the jurisdictional amount in 9 controversy. See Rippee v. Bos. Market Corp., 408 F. Supp. 2d 982, 984 (S.D. Cal.
 10 2005) (“The calculation of the amount in controversy takes into account claims for 11 general damages, special damages, punitive damages if recoverable as a matter of 12 law, and attorneys’ fees recoverable by statute or contract.”).

13 The Court may consider other similar cases in assessing potential attorneys’
 14 fees and punitive damages for jurisdictional purposes. See Greene v. Harley-
15 Davidson, Inc., 965 F.3d 767, 774 n.4 (9th Cir. 2020) (holding that “it is reasonable 16 to assume” the amount of fees plaintiff’s attorney would seek based on evidence in 17 another similar case); Simmons v. PCR Tech., 209 F. Supp. 2d 1029, 1033 (N.D.
 18 Cal. 2002) (noting that when determining jurisdictional amount in controversy
 19 defendant may rely on other cases involving analogous facts to establish potential 20 punitive damages).

21 Counsel for Cody likely would seek attorneys’ fees at an hourly rate of at 22 least $750. Cody’s counsel sought attorneys’ fees in an individual action for alleged 23 violations under California statutes at a rate of $750 per hour in 2018. See Martin, 24 2018 WL 11483059, at *2 (finding amount of controversy for diversity citizen was 25 established “[w]ith the $750 hourly rate of Plaintiff’s counsel, Scott J. Ferrell, and 26 the damages potentially recoverable”).

27 And, any punitive damages awarded in this case could be $5,000 for a single 28 privacy offense under the CIPA. See Condon v. Condon, 2008 WL 11338437, at *8

1 (C.D. Cal. June 6, 2008) (awarding $5,000 in punitive damages for single CIPA
 2 violation).

3 C. The Allegations In Harman's Notice Of Removal Should Be 4 Accepted As True In The Absence Of Any Genuine Dispute

5 The factual allegations in Harman's Notice of Removal should be accepted as 6 true at this juncture when Cody has not challenged any part of the Notice. See
 7 Bakewell Decl. ¶ 2; see NewGen, LLC, 840 F.3d at 614 (“[A]t the pleading stage,
 8 allegations of jurisdictional fact need not be proven unless challenged.”). Indeed,
 9 Cody's counsel already suggested that Plaintiff agrees that the Court has jurisdiction 10 over this case in discussions between counsel after removal regarding next steps for 11 the litigation. See Bakewell Decl. ¶ 3.

12 The Court's diversity jurisdiction over this case is on its own sufficient to 13 confer subject matter jurisdiction on this Court. See Chan Healthcare Grp., PS, 844
 14 F.3d at 1137 (noting that CAFA “expands the jurisdiction of federal courts” and is 15 distinct from “traditional diversity” jurisdiction “under § 1332(a)"); 28 U.S.C.
 16 § 1332(a). This action, therefore, should not be remanded.

17 III. THE COURT HAS JURISDICTION UNDER CAFA

18 The Court has jurisdiction over this action under CAFA in addition to 19 diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a). See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)
 20 (establishing original jurisdiction under CAFA); Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 20-36 (stating CAFA 21 is an independent basis for removal of this case).

22 Harman's statement in its Notice of Removal that it is more than plausible
 23 that JBL's Website had over 1,000 visitors during the statute of limitations period –
 24 and thus the amount in controversy to confer CAFA jurisdiction is satisfied – is 25 supported by public record of JBL's prominence and success in the audio industry.
 26 See Dkt. No. 1 ¶ 33. Harman (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Samsung Electronics 27 that recently earned over a billion dollars in sales in one quarter) owns the JBL
 28 brand. See Bakewell Decl. Exs. 14 at 1, 15 at 4, 17 at 2. JBL is a global leader in

1 the design, manufacturing, and sale of audio-related products for a range of 2 applications including in studios, within homes, and inside cars. See generally id.
 3 Ex. 16. For example, JBL has sold 200 million headphone units as of 2022 after 4 entering the consumer headphones category in 2016 (an average of about 33.33
 5 million headphone units sold each year) and became “the #1 audio brand in volume
 6 in the overall headphone market.” See id. Ex. 17 at 1-2. Moreover, JBL encourages 7 customers to buy directly from its website to purchase authentic JBL products and 8 enjoy other perks. See id. Ex. 18. That JBL’s Website had more than 1,000 visitors 9 used during the statute of limitations period is not a baseless assumption under these 10 circumstances. See Dart Cherokee Basin Operating Co. v. Owens, 574 U.S. 81, 89
 11 (2014) (“[A] defendant’s notice of removal need include only a plausible allegation 12 that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional threshold.”).

13 Importantly, Cody not only seeks statutory damages on behalf of the 14 purported class members but also punitive damages, attorneys’ fees, and “any and 15 all other relief at law that may be appropriate.” See Dkt. No. 1-1 ¶¶ 26-29 (alleging 16 that the “class members suffered the same intrusion and are entitled to the same 17 damages as Plaintiff”), see also id. at 8. The Complaint plausibly alleges more than 18 $5,000,000 in controversy given the multiple types of damages and fees sought and 19 the amounts that have been awarded in similar cases. See Rippee, 408 F. Supp. 2d
 20 at 984; see, e.g., Medeiros v. HSBC Card Servs., Inc., 2017 WL 11632870, at *9
 21 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 23, 2017) (approving over $4.33 million in attorneys’ fees from 22 class settlement fund for CIPA claim); In re Yahoo Mail Litig., 2016 WL 4474612, 23 at *11 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 25, 2016) (awarding $4 million in attorneys’ fees for class 24 action CIPA claim); Condon, 2008 WL 11338437, at *8; see also Guglielmino v.
 25 McKee Foods Corp., 506 F.3d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 2007) (stating that a removing 26 defendant need only show “that it is ‘more likely than not’ that the amount in 27 controversy exceeds” the required threshold).

1 There is no dispute that the amount of controversy is satisfied for CAFA
 2 jurisdiction in this case. Cody has not challenged Harman's Notice of Removal
 3 with respect to this Court's jurisdiction under CAFA (including the jurisdictional
 4 amount in controversy), and her counsel indicated that there is and will be no
 5 disagreement on this issue. See Bakewell Decl. ¶¶ 2-4. Additionally, it is apparent
 6 based on other CIPA-related actions filed by Cody's counsel that Cody would,
 7 ultimately, file an amended complaint asserting allegations that would confer the 8 Court CAFA in this case. See Bakewell Decl. Exs. 1-13. Cody's counsel also 9 indicated that the settlement demand would be greater than $5 million should 10 Harman seek to settle this purported class action. See Bakewell Decl. ¶ 4; see also 11 Cohn v. Petsmart, Inc., 281 F.3d 837, 840 (9th Cir. 2002) (allowing Court to 12 consider settlement letter to determine amount in controversy).

13 IV. REMAND IS INAPPROPRIATE WITHOUT CERTAINTY THAT 14 CODY WILL NOT PURSUE CAFA CLAIMS AGAINST HARMAN OR 15 ALLOWING AMENDMENT OF THE REMOVAL NOTICE

16 This case (at a minimum) should not be remanded unless Cody provides 17 binding assurance that she will not pursue a CAFA action against Harman 18 considering the circumstances of this case (again, to the extent that the undisputed 19 diversity jurisdiction is ignored). In particular, counsel for Cody represented that 20 Cody intends to file an Amended Complaint to add allegations showing the CAFA
 21 requirements are met. See Bakewell Decl. ¶¶ 3-4. The Court should either require:
 22 (1) Cody to provide evidence that she is not pursuing (and will not pursue) a class 23 action for damages over $5 million and/or is not representing a class of more than 24 100 individuals; or (2) defer its decision until after Cody files her Amended 25 Complaint.

26 Alternatively, the Court should grant Harman leave to amend its Notice of 27 Removal should the Court concluded that the Notice is deficient pursuant to 28
 28 U.S.C. § 1653. See Kacludis v. GTE Sprint Commc 'ns Corp., 806 F. Supp. 866, 869

1 (N.D. Cal. 1992) (noting that “defects in form of a removal petition are amendable
2 at any time”).

3 CONCLUSION

4 For the foregoing reasons, the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this 5 action and remand is not warranted.

6 Alternatively, the Court should either: (1) direct Cody to provide evidence 7 that she is not and will not pursue a class action for damages over $5 million and/or 8 is not representing a class of more than 100 individuals; (2) defer its decision until 9 after Cody files an amended complaint; or (3) grant Harman leave to amend its 10 Notice of Removal should the Court conclude that the Notice is deficient pursuant 11 to 28 U.S.C. § 1653.
